Civil Service Reform League Former Gettysburg Woman Will Progressive's Proposal to Hold Attacks Examinations for Postmasters.

The National Civil Service Reform tourth class postmasters before they master General can, under the present plan, appoint any one of three men standing nighest on the list. This means, says the statement, that if the present incumbent of an office should ess highest in the examination the tmaster General could still appoint a preferred man with no experience in the office and who did not get as high an average in the examination.

With respect to the Taft "covering in" order, the leasue declares that it is

Plan's Practicability Doubted.

"The league has some doubts as to the practicability of the plan of competitive examinations for fourth class postmasters provided for in the executive order of May 7," the statement "It will be extremely costly and says. "It will be extremely costly and laborious, involving as it does examinations for over 40,000 postoffices. These examinations are simple in character, but for many, if not all, of the postoffices, it will require a personal visit to desermine the relative advantages of the offices, both as to lo-cation and as to facilities. "The Civil Service Commission is not equipped to perform this work, and a ginia. large increase in appropriations will mond be required for the Commission's exfining force and for the post office inspectors who make the examination for the lower paid offices. The examtions are to be conducted State by State and will without doubt take months, if not years, to complete.

Has Choice Of Candidate.

There is, furthermore, no guarantee that the plan will result in increasing the efficiency of this branch of the postal service. This is due to the fact that under the present regulations the Postmaster General may appoint any one of the three candidates standing highest on the eligible list. If a present incumbent, therefore, should pass the examination with the highest rating, it will be within the power of the Postmaster General to replace him by either one of the other two men on the list. "If the plan is fairly executed, however, it should greatly improve the administration of the postoffices. The league will watch with great interest the working out of the new regulations and hopes that its doubts as to the feasibility of the plan will prove groundless." the fact that under the present regu-

Congressman Lindbergh of Minnesota one of the Progressive party leaders it a commotion in the House Banking and Chairman Carter Glass, or any of the Democratic members of the committee. A motion was made to table, but this was voted down. Finally the Lindbergh motion was referred to a subcommittee.

It is the position of Mr. Lindbergh that in a matter so important to every man in the country as banking and currency legislation, the public has the right to know what the committee is doing, and that there is no reason for closed doors. In taking this position he has the support of numerous progressive men of all parties. Whether he can force the motion through committee, however, is doubtful. mittee, however, is doubtful.

Embarrassing To Leaders. The proposel of Mr. Lindbergh is one which is peculiarly embarrassing for the House Democratic leaders. The fact is there has been no intention of having the currency bill shaped in the Banking and Currency Committee. Chairman Glass some days ago had a bill ready to introduce but President Wilson intervened, looked over the bill and took the position that it should not go in at this time as the Administration wanted to give the subject fur-ther study. It is well understood that the eDmocratic side of the committee is made up of men, for the most part, little skilled in banking and currency matters and that President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo with a few advisers are going to formulate Democratic measure. All Work Openly. The nominal functions of the committee will be p retty thoroughly revealed if public sessions are held. For that reason, it is likely a way will be found to block the Lindbergh motion. That motion would compel the committee to do all its work openly. Congressman Woods, of Iowa, one o Republicans on the committee sald he would support a proposal for publis cessions, providing though lati-tude were left for executive sessions if they proved to be necessary.

The mercantile agencies say today that the pessimism seen in the security market is not indicative of the trade in part;
"More reasonable weather has had a favorable effect on retail distribution throughout the country, and, while a slight recession in wholesale business is apparent in some sections of the West, reports from several centers show trade to be more active than a year ago.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange fell sharply, but this weakness was mainly due to the unloading of American securities by European holders as a result of the strained condition of the twestment markets there. tion of the investment markets there and in no way reflected any change in the mercantile or industrial situation in this country.

Bradstreet's says in part: "Varying features are presented by this week's reports, financial pessimism, plus apprehension over the tariff changes, being in sharp contrast to very favorable returns as to actual current trade and as to crops. "Bad weather has retarded trade throughout a wide area of the country. Crop news is almost uniformly favorable. But the financial situation, to-gether with a certain degree of uncertainty regarding tariff matters, con-tinues to hold up operations for the

The Safest Investments

Are those that do not fluctuate during disturbed conditions of the money or steck markets. First deed of trust notes (first mortgages), well secured on real estate in the District of Columbia, constitute "gift-edge" investments. They do not depend upon the financial responsibility of individuals or corporations for their stability, and are exempt from taxation as personal property. We can supply such investments in amounts from 1940 upward. Send for booklet, "Concerning Loans and Investments."

Former Secretary of Agriculture Wilson Sails to Attend Presbyterian Session.

James Wilson, who was Secretary of Agriculture under Presidents McKinley. Roosevelt, and Taft, sailed for Europe from New York today to attend the Pan-Presbyterian Alliance in Aberdeen, Scotland, June 17. His daughter, Miss Flora Wilson, went to New York to bid him adleu, and will join him in England late in the summer for a tour of the Continent.

The proposal to have Mr. Wilson go as a delegate excited no little opposition among the members of his denomination, many contending that his action in addressing a liquor dealers' convention while a member of the Cabinet should bar him from being a representative of the church.

Mr. Wilson will be the guest of Andrew Carnegle at Skibo Castle during his stay in Scotland, and will go to Edinburgh for a few days, where the Edinburgh University will confer the descree of Lil. D. on him. Joseph Choate and Mr. Carnegle are the only other and Mr. Carnegle are the only othe Americans who have been so honore have just wired us that they will be here with 60 head of the best general purpose and draft horses that they have shipped this season. And they say they have the kind Washington consumers want. You know what the McHenry Bros. do. They never have a horse left after the sale; they sell them. Your price is theirs when they get in the auction ring. They sell, and represent their horses, so that anyone can buy. They never have any complaints. So if you want a horse, come and see these horses sell. It will convince you that every horse is sold, and you will see a real live horse sale.

NORMAN CORBIN

has been away during the week and has advised us that he has 25 head of good, smooth work chunks fit for the job you may want a horse for. If you notice, Mr. Corbin commences to sell his horses about 1 p. m., and if you come you will see him instruct the auctioneer to sell every horse regardless of cost. He likes to clean up his sale every week, and he does. So every horse does not lose money for him and every horse does not make money, and he takes it as he finds the market. If the market is up he sells, and if it is low he sells, and every one that buys Mr. Corbin's horses is pleased, because they give the purchaser great satisfaction
